Geothermal energy is thermal energy generated and stored in the Earth. Thermal energy is the energy that determines the temperature of matter. The geothermal energy of the Earth's crust originates from the original formation of the planet and from radioactive decay of materials (in currently uncertain but possibly roughly equal proportions). The geothermal gradient, which is the difference in ...

Well placement is the process of monitoring the position of a well while drilling along a predetermined path and making the necessary adjustments based on geological structure. This structure is interpreted in real time by well placement experts using data acquired from LWD tools, and the downhole drilling assembly is then steered accordingly by the directional driller.
